

NGX Real Time Indices now available on GlobalView's MarketView Platform

NGX is pleased to announce that select Canadian natural gas and crude oil index data is now available in real time through the MarketView commodities market data platform. GlobalView already provides a full range of NGX settlement marks and index price details on its MarketView platform. The addition of NGX real time index data to the platform completes a full set of trusted Canadian energy benchmark and settlement information based on exchange traded physical natural gas, crude oil and electricity products cleared and settled daily by NGX on behalf of its market participants.

Real time NGX index data has been integrated into the MarketView platform for the following Canadian natural gas and crude oil indices:
