

Notice: NGX Unveils Enhancements to NGX.com

March 28, 2007

As part of NGX's dedication to continual service improvement, we are pleased to unveil a new look and navigation that significantly improves the NGX.com experience.

New features include:

- A new visual design and content structure, allowing greater clarity and flexibility in navigating ngx.com.
- Expanded content for those who want to learn more about NGX, including a "Frequently Asked Questions" section and glossary.
- An enhanced description of NGX products in a new "Contracts Listed" section, including a complete listing and details of all hubs, product types and screen mnemonics.
- A home page "Feature" section highlighting recent or forthcoming NGX developments.

Some existing content has been relocated in keeping with the enhanced navigation:

- All password-protected content, previously available in the Member and AMV areas, will be consolidated into a new "Secure Area" accessible from a homepage drop-down menu.
- Commonly-accessed pages like Indices, Market Statistics and Settlement Prices will all be found in an integrated "Market Data/Indices" section.
- A new "Customer Resources" section will incorporate information previously found in the Operations section, such as the holiday schedule and noon day rate.

It should be noted that URLs for existing external links to specific pages remain valid.

We hope you enjoy the new site.

Questions and comments may be directed to the NGX Help Desk at 403.974.HELP (4357) or ops@ngx.com.