

12 September, 2007

New Version of NGX/ICE Customer Transition Guide 2.0 Coming Soon

A new version of the guide for NGX customers on the transition of NGX products to the ICE trading platform, originally published in July, will soon be available. It will include an updated launch timetable and more detailed information about certain areas of the transition, such as trade capture API services.

In the meantime questions about the transition may continue to be directed to the contacts listed in the July edition of the guide, your NGX representative, or ops@ngx.com.