

October 15, 2007

Revised Screen Names for NGX Products on ICE Trading Platform

In order to optimize desktop real estate, NGX and ICE have revised the naming convention that will be used for representing NGX products on the ICE platform. These are provided in an Excel table available in the Secure Area of ngx.com here. We believe this will significantly improve the customer experience and apologize for any short-term inconvenience this revision may cause

In the meantime questions about the transition may continue to be directed to the contacts listed in the September edition of the guide, your NGX representative, or ops@ngx.com.